KENTUCKY WEATHER REPORT.

What We May Expect Between This Time and To-morrow Evening.

THE LEDGER'S WEATHER SIGNALS.

White streamer—FAIR; Blue—RAIN or SNOW; With Black ABOVE—"WILL" WARMER; With Black BELOW—"WILL" COLDER; With Black BENEATH—"WILL" BEAT; Unless Black's shown—no change we'll see.

A WHOLE HALF YARD.
When Sol looks down from cloudless skies,
And earth is garbed with green,
And golden sunshine beautifies
The varied vernal scene,
Then to the store the maiden bies,
By horse car or on foot,
And half a yard of something buys
To make a bathin suit.

THE limit of financial folly is apparently contained in a bill, introduced by Senator Feffer, "at the request of the National Industrial Association," to prohibit the coinage of gold in the mints of the United States.

THE section of the Revenue and Taxation bill levying the Agricultural and Mechanical College tax has been so amended as to apply all taxes collected from colored people to the support of the Colored State Normal School.

THE fastest mile ever trotted by a two-year-old thus early in the season was accomplished at Lexington by John E. Madden's dilly Gypsy Earl, by Earl, she going the whole distance without a break in 2:24, the last quarter in thirty-four seconds.

JOSEPH JONES stepped on the toes of Thomas Jefferson Florence at a dance near Dumfries, Va. Florence said nothing. Then Jones stepped on the foot of the young lady with whom Florence was dancing. Thereupon Florence shot the bully dead.

THERE was a queer strike at Huntington, Ind. A new hotel is being built, and the proprietor discovered that the workmen had constructed a crooked brick wall. When he demanded that they take it down and rebuild it the bricklayers struck.

MISS PEARL WIKOFF, sister of agent W. W. Wikoff of the C. and O., whose serious illness was noticed in THE LEDGER a few days since, is dead. Her death will cause regret among her many friends in Mayville. She spent some time here last winter with her brother.

MANY newspapers in different parts of the country are offering round trip tickets to the World's Fair as premiums for subscriptions. Tickets are also being offered in schools, by the school authorities or by private individuals, as prizes for excellence in scholarship.

DR. MORRIS PRISTER's card appears in this issue of THE LEDGER. The Doctor has located in Mayville for the practice of his profession. Having graduated 18 years ago in one of the best Homoeopathic colleges in the country, and having taken two post-graduate courses, successful practice is assured by him. His office is located corner Third and Sutton.

COUNTY COURT DAY.

It Will Soon Be Numbered With Those Things That Have Been.

Not long ago THE LEDGER remarked the state of lethargy into which County Court Day seemed to have fallen. That the historic day is on the wane is manifestly noticeable in Mayville. It is evidently not in keeping with the progressive ideas of these modern times. The old-time Kentuckians will hail the final departure of this monthly reunion of friends and acquaintances with regret.

J. R. Marrs, who has spent a life time in the heart of the region where the court day originally flourished in its greatest glory, writes as follows about it in THE Kentucky Homestead:

"Court day live stock sales have been declining in Kentucky for several years, and are not any longer to be regarded as important indexes for traders and farmers. It is now the exception to the rule to find on the streets for sale strictly No. 1, good stock. This is due to the change in the manner of selling. Agents of the commission houses scour the country and pick up or engage all good stock when it is ready for market, leaving only the undesirable and culled lots for County Court street sales. And it may be added that the death of the old-fashioned Kentucky Court Day is only a question of time. That day when the farmers of several counties would meet once a month for the transaction of accumulated business has passed away, and year by year the court crowds grow smaller. The farmer no longer keeps his money at home 'in an old sock,' but when he wants to pay a neighbor a sum he writes out a check and sends it by mail, instead of riding ten or fifteen miles to deliver it in person. Still there is something peculiarly attractive about 'Court Day.' Men who never grasp a plowhandle and hardly know growing wheat from hemp go from court to court and mingle with the crowds, but they usually deal in politics."

P. B. DUNN, the man for whose murder J. P. Redferrin was lynched, was buried Wednesday evening with Masonic honors. It was the largest funeral procession ever seen in Franklin.

THE bridge of the Holy Trinity, Florence, was built in 1509. It is 322 feet long, of white marble, and is even now reckoned as being without a rival as a specimen of the bridge building art.

ADVERTISERS are beginning to appreciate THE LEDGER as a medium through which to make known their wants. We are not "blowing" about the paper or its circulation, for the public is an able judge of these matters.

HENRY BROWN, alias "Cat," a negro, who last July stabbed a man named Charles Hampton, the keeper of a negro saloon in which a dance was in progress, was tried in the Paducah Circuit Court. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and Brown was sentenced to the penitentiary for life.

THE LEDGER was misinformed as to the game of ball between the Aberdeen Browns and the Picked Nine. The score stood 27 in favor of the former and only 18 for the latter. In justice to our good friends in Aberdeen, we have ordered our informant shot at 6 o'clock p. m. to-morrow.

MRS. SARA PEARCE of Brielle, N. J., won the prize offered by THE Illustrative Kinetograph, published at Lexington, for giving the best definition of "marriage." The winning definition was: "The highest state of earthly happiness when two souls are made one, and kept so by the exercise of love, unselfishness and forbearance."

KENTUCKY, with the exception of two other states, now pays out more money for educational purposes, direct from the State Treasury than any other state in the Union. For next year the Superintendent of the Public Instruction estimates there are 705,967 school children as against 698,208 for the year just closed, an increase of 7,759.

THE fire losses in the United States during the first six months of 1892 are estimated by good authority to be over $65,000,000, against $69,000,000 for the same period last year. At this rate the losses by fire in this country in six years will about equal the present National debt. Our people have a chance to make an enormous amount of money by going into fireproof construction.

Those members who wish to go to Denver with Mayville Commandery had better make their arrangements early, or they will be everlastingly too late.

COUNTY CLERK James H. Headly of Fayette county and his brother Hamilton Headly of Boyle county, were severely injured in a runaway accident on the latter's farm.

MRS. OSBORNE, a widow, has cleared $5,000 to $6,000 a year from her ranch near Salt Lake City. She raises vegetables. Lately she added a chicken ranch and two incubators, and expects to clear $10,000 this year.

MAUDE HANNA, a dashing blonde of Chicago, is under arrest as a firebug. If the windy city folks fail to punish her, she is wanted at Cincinnati for a $6000 trick played on the insurance men there about a year ago.

THERE will be a meeting of the Mason County Republican Committee at the office of M. C. Hutchins in Mayville on Saturday, July 23d, at 11 o'clock a. m. All members are requested to be present, as there is important business to be considered. M. C. HUTCHINS, Chairman. S. T. HICKMAN, Secretary.

THE Democratic House of Representatives of this state yesterday struck organized labor squarely between the eyes. A resolution was introduced requiring the Printing Committee to frame and report a bill providing for letting the public printing by contract only to such persons as will covenant to have the same done by Union organized labor. The resolution was killed by being laid upon the table.

At the Central Presbyterian Church there will be preaching every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. During the heated term there will be no preaching in the evening, but the Y. P. S. C. E. will have interesting services every Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. To all of these services the public are cordially invited, especially our brethren of other denominations who have no services in their own church.

THE Kentucky Senate passed the famous revenue bill by a bare majority. It took much personal importuning to pull it through. Senator Newman of Newport, who voted against the measure, says the franchise feature will be an utter failure and defeat the purpose for which it was intended. He says it was drawn up that way, and that the Republicans could take it up as an issue and win on it in the fall campaign.

MISS BELLE RAMSEY, a beautiful and highly educated young lady, left her home, on Bellcreek, Fayette county, W. Va., for a stroll in the mountains. When a few hundred yards from her home she was met by a ferocious she bear. The lady tried to make her escape, but was caught by the brute, and so seriously injured that she died shortly after she was found by her friends. The whole neighborhood is out on the hunt for the bear.

Death by Lightning.
News has been received in this city that Miss Mary Danahy, living in Bracken county about seven miles from Germantown, was struck by the lightning yesterday and instantly killed. It happened at her home, the lightning coming down the chimney, the lady standing near the fireplace.
She was a daughter of Thomas Danahy, a well known citizen of Bracken county.

THE Secretary of State has received official assurance of Russia's acceptance of the President's invitation to participate in an international monetary conference. All the other European countries having previously taken similar action, nothing now remains but the formal preparations for the conference. It is understood that these arrangements, including the selection of place and date of meeting and the selection of American delegates, will be completed by the President next week.

SENATOR LINDSAY, the ablest lawyer in the General Assembly, says that part of the bill relating to taxation of corporate franchises should be labelled a bill for the benefit of corporate franchises and to exempt them from taxation. He says that that will be the result. The bill provides that the value of tangible property of corporations shall be deducted from the value of capital stock, and the remainder shall constitute the franchise. The Senators say the capital stock is oftener than otherwise worth less than the tangible property, and is kept down, purposely by the owners. The amendment will be fought in the House vigorously.

Mrs. W. C. P. BRECKINRIDGE, wife of Kentucky's distinguished Congressman, died in Washington Thursday. She was a native of Lexington, and until her husband was elected to Congress made that city her home. She was the daughter of the late Dr. Joseph Desha, and a descendant of Governor Desha. She founded the Hart Memorial Association, whose efforts placed the beautiful statue of Joel T. Hart in the rotunda of the Lexington Courthouse. She was known personally to nearly every citizen of Lexington, and was a noble Christian woman, and was held in the highest esteem and loved by all.

THE Legislature has passed a bill for the public printing and binding. It provides that the Governor, Auditor, Secretary of State, Treasurer and Attorney General shall be ex-officio Commissioners to let contracts for the printing, binding and stationery used by the various state departments. The Governor shall be Chairman of the Board. The furnishing of stationery and printing paper for the use of the state, and the printing, binding and distributing of the cases, journals and reports, and all the other printing, binding and distributing shall be let by contract to the lowest responsible bidder, but no contract shall be let to a member of the General Assembly or state officer. The present Public Printer is to complete all unfinished work in his hands by the first Monday in August. The printing and binding is divided into three classes. The printing of the first class is to be printed at Frankfort by residents of the state. Non-resident parties are permitted to bid for the binding, ruling, blank book work and lithographing.

STARTED UP.

Non-Union Men at Work in the Homestead Mills.

Sixty Men Smuggled in Without the Strikers' Knowledge.

At This Rate It Will Not Be Very Many Days Before All Departments in the Carnegie Mill Will Be in Operation With the Non-Union Workmen.

PITTSBURGH, July 16.—Chairman H. C. Frick, of the Carnegie Steel Co., Friday started up a portion of the Homestead mills with non-union men. Their number was sixty. The strikers, who still maintain a keen watch on all the approaches to the mills, are ignorant of the fact that Mr. Frick has already started a portion of the mechanism of the huge mill plant with non-union men. Mr. Frick's agents smuggled these men into the mills. None of the locked-out men discovered their entrance. The strikers' patrols, despite their vigilance, have not yet discovered the fact. Mr. Frick has in fact already consummated in part his determination to have one or two departments of the Homestead mills in operation within twenty-four hours after the adjournment of the ponderous congressional committee that has kept him so busy during the past three or four days.

Friday morning I saw the smoke curling lazily upward into the sultry morning air from the top of one of the tall chimney stacks that tower high above the tall whitewashed mill fence. From a pipe that stuck its head above the eaves of the armor-plate mill puffs of white steam were tossed upward. It was the first evidence of activity I have seen about the mills for tendays, and I asked one of the locked-out mill men, who was smoking his pipe outside the telegraph office, if the mills were at work again. He said: "At work? Naw; there ain't nobody at work but a detail of men from headquarters, who are operating a pump lifting water for the troops to the top of the hill yonder, where you see the tents of the soldiers." That is where he was mistaken. This man has been on picket duty for the locked-out men for a fortnight past. He did not know what I knew and General Manager Potter knew that the puffs of steam and the curling smoke that lightly wreathed the chimney stack of the armor-plate mill were silent evidence of the fact that Chairman Frick had made good his determination to start up the works, if only one department could be put in operation with non-union labor, as soon as he could get the opportunity. The opportunity came to him Friday. The mill is in operation. The men at work are non-union men.

How Mr. Frick smuggled the men is not known. That it is possible to smuggle sixty men into the works in one day without the fact becoming known to them, seems strange to those who are acquainted with the thoroughness of the watch for non-union men maintained in Homestead and at all its approaches by the locked-out workmen. At this rate of progress, the days will not be many before Mr. Frick will have a very considerable portion of the huge mill plant in operation and manned by non-union men.

Black Small-Pox in Russia.
ST. PETERSBURG, July 16.—Black small-pox is epidemic among the troops in the great camp at Krasnoe-Selo, eighteen miles southeast of St. Petersburg. An official cholera report issued shows that on July 8 and 9 there were 495 new cases of the disease and 139 deaths throughout all the Russian districts affected. The heaviest mortality at any single place was at Baku where there were sixty-two deaths. While there were 191 new cases in Astrakhan, there were only thirty-two deaths there. All the private schools in the Caucasus will be closed owing to the prevalence of cholera.

Fair Crops in Russia.
ST. PETERSBURG, July 16.—A statement issued by the agricultural department, compiled from the reports of 4,100 agents, says that an average harvest of winter wheat and rye is expected, but the corn crop will be under the average. A good crop of summer corn is assured. Other summer crops are above the average. The hay and fodder crops are good in the black earth region. Elsewhere they are fair.

The Weather.
WASHINGTON, July 16.—Kentucky—Generally fair Saturday; northwest winds; slightly cooler in west portion. West Virginia—Showers to-night, fair Saturday; cooler; northwest winds. Ohio—Generally fair Saturday, with northwest winds; cooler. Indiana—Fair, north winds; cooler in central; warmer in extreme northwest.
